

THE FARMER

We greet you, our neighbors of the soil!
You, who know what it means to labor and toil,
You, who since the beginning of creation,
Have been the backbone of our nation,
You, who modestly underrate your worth
But are actually the salt of the earth.

We're happy to have you here today
And trust you'll be joyous and gay.
We're interested in you and what you do
And want to help with ideas new.
So let's get together now with plans
For aiding the best and finest of our land!
