Durham, NC – Durham County Library presents a program for teens and tweens, Casey's Laugh & Learn: Hands-On Science! at six Durham County Library locations the second week of May. This program is free and open to tweens and teens.

Enjoy these hands-on science workshops all about flight—air pressure, thermal energy, air surfing and more. Make an ultralight glider, experience the wonders of Bernoulli and explore the creative side of science. Dates, times and locations are as follows:

Monday, May 8, 3:30 - 4:30 p.m.	South Regional Library
Monday, May 8, 6 - 7 p.m.	East Regional Library
Tuesday, May 9, 3 - 4 p.m.	North Regional Library
Wednesday, May 10, 4:30 - 5:30 p.m.	Southwest Regional Library*
Thursday, May 11, 5:30 - 6:30 p.m.	Stanford L. Warren Branch Library
Friday, May 12, 4 - 5 p.m.	Bragtown Library Family Literacy Center

For more information, call Teen Librarian Archie Burke at 919-560-0213 or visit DurhamCountyLibrary.org. To attend the program at Southwest Regional Library, *registration is required (register online at DurhamCountyLibrary.evanced.info/signup). For all other programs, feel free to drop in without registering.

Durham County Library encourages Discovery, connects the Community and leads in Literacy. As a department of Durham County Government, the library furthers Goal 1 of the county's Strategic Plan by enhancing cultural, educational and creative opportunities.
